Twenty-Sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time

‘The Rich Man and Lazarus’

Last Sunday's Gospel reminded us of what economics according to God looks like- it spoke of a redistribution of wealth by a manager who realised that material wealth is only temporary; what we do with that wealth and how we distribute it is more important. Today's parable is on a similar theme.

The rich man is sorry, but it is too late for him. He had not come to his senses as the manager last week had done. The rich man is unwilling to change; even in the afterlife he wants Lazarus sent, ordered, to go to his brothers to warn them. It is not proof or special signs that they need. Their vision has been blinded by wealth. They need to 'see' the poor who are at their gates.

God's economics means striving for a world where the poor man Lazarus can sit down at the same table as the rich man. It is not simply enough to comfort the poor and say to them that they will be rewarded in heaven. This misses the point. Luke is pointing us to a great reversal that is so central to this Gospel, a call to turn the world as we know it upside down.

First Reading Amos 6:1, 4-7

In our first reading today, the prophet Amos remains faithful to his reputation as a fearless champion of the poor and the oppressed. He warns the wealthy of his day against selfishness and greed and warns them of the consequences of their actions.

Second Reading 1 Timothy 6:11-16

Paul gives Timothy some sound advice about being a disciple of Jesus in our second reading today. He encourages Timothy to persevere in both his ministry and his personal holiness, even in the face of persecution. It is sound advice for all of us to reflect and act upon in the daily living out of our own faith.

Gospel Reading Luke 16:19-31

Today's Gospel is definitely a wake-up call for each of us. We are reminded that we all can easily (and, perhaps, deliberately) cocoon ourselves from recognising the needs of others, especially the poor and needy around us. Those who have plenty are prompted not to neglect others, especially those who are less fortunate – there is a message in this Gospel for me and for you, if only we care to listen to it closely and act accordingly.
