To say that this Easter is different is surely an understatement. This virus has unhinged the world. For a world that was acting as if there could be no limits to its ambitions, this has come a great shock. We are limited; we are not fully in control of our destiny. We hope this will pass sooner than later but pass it will. Our good wishes are with all who are presently threatened with the virus or who are sadly dealing with it. We acknowledge the efforts of those devoting themselves to others in so many ways. Our sympathies to those who have lost family members and we commend their loved ones to God. Hopefully good will result from the experience. May we recover our sense of community and the tradition of voluntary work.

May we look up from our phones and recognise the person in front of us; may we regain our interest in people; may we acknowledge our dependence on God, while doing the best we can in all circumstances. We are going through our own form of Holy Week. But as with the first Holy Week, ours too will be followed by an Easter Sunday morning. We live in the light and the strength of the Risen Jesus. He is with us every step we take. He doesn't take away our troubles but He does help us to see them in a different light and deal with them in a confident, calm manner. May the power of the same Jesus carry us all through these trying times.

Msgr. Joe McGrath

House Blessing with Easter Holy Water:

Let us now pray that the Lord will enter our home and bless it with his presence. May the lord always be here among us, deepen our love for each other, share in our joys, and comfort us in our sorrows and protect us from the Coronavirus and all harm, May our home be a place of love, Filled with the goodness of the Lord. Amen
